PS/0019/65

Notice of Processing of Data Collected before Effectiveness of Personal Data Protection Act 2019 (B.E. 2562)

Attn: Concerned person with Energy Complex Company Limited

Energy Complex Company Limited (“Company”) foresees the significance of privacy and is determined to protect your data or the data of concerned persons with your business (collectively called “Personal Data”) according to Thai law. To follow the legislation in the Personal Data Protection Act 2019 (B.E. 2562) (“Act”), which was effective on the 1 June 2022, the company issues the notice of processing of data that you have provided to the company before the act takes effect.

As the company collected, used, and/or disclosed your provided personal data via any measures due to the relationship between you and the company as the employee, worker, partner, business partner, shareholder, director, or other statuses before the effectiveness of the act, the company would like to inform that the company shall continue collecting and using your data based on the previous objectives of collection and use. The company shall not disclose your data to other persons unless we receive your written consent, or it is allowed by the law. Suppose the company has to collect, use, or disclose your data for other purposes besides those before the act takes effect. In that case, the company shall notify you and collect, use, and disclose your data based on the principles and measures defined by the act. You can read the data collection, use, and disclosure from the privacy notice.

If you want the company to refrain from collecting and using such data, you have the right to withdraw your consent given to the company before the act takes effect via the following channels.
